To whom it may concern,

I've known Keegan McCreaney for about a year. I've watched him grow and learn in the NewLife Program and Recovery in general.

I had him mowing and doing odd jobs over the summer and have found him to be one of the most trusted of the young men in early recovery affiliated with the New Life Mission Made NewLife Program.

Keegan came here facing alot of adversity with his criminal charges and in spite of that he excelled in the program. I've seen many men facing charges go back to doing drugs and basically giving up. But not Keegan. He used that adversity to excel and succeed in working the 12 steps and eventually graduating the new life Program.

I fully trust this kid and I'm so proud of him. He came here to do a job. To grow and change into a better man. I believe that he has accomplished this task.

Sincerely,

Shannon Rodkey
